

Last Lecture

The Last Lecture was very inspirational. It made me feel optimistic about the future and like I could maybe accomplish my goals in the future if I work toward them. It also made me worried that I may fail to do so. Either way, I was inspired by his ability to accomplish his dreams over the span of his life. I didn't find any parts of the lecture that I related to specifically, I am usually jumping from interest to interest, so it never really feels like my goals stay the same or are attainable at times. I think that the thing that affected me the most from the lecture was the fact that he got where he was in life by getting help from or helping others. It shows that making meaningful connections with others is a valuable skill to have. I also couldn't help but feel bummed that he was unable to see the current or future state of Virtual Reality. One message that connected with me was "Are you spending your time on the right things? Because time is all you have.". This is because I always feel as though I am wasting my time and like I won't accomplish anything due to that.
